Help your Dryer Breathe Better

Air doesn't like to bend, but with the Dryer-Ell product, I can make the airflow better.

The Dryer-Ell® is a long turn elbow that allows for better airflow for your dryer and increased efficiency. Most dryer duct elbows bend air in a tight radius, but the DryerEll bends air on a 10 foot radius allowing for a slower transition while maintaining a true 4 inch duct diameter.

And if duct length is a problem in your home, the Dryer-Ell has no run length penalty thus reducing the overall duct equivalency by 5 feet for every standard elbow replaced.

For longer duct runs in today's larger homes, reducing the number of elbows can greatly improve the dryer's level of performance.

Perfect for new new dryer vent installations, or can be easily retrofit in vents run through attics and crawlspaces.

Improve the overall performance of your dryer by letting it breathe better. Save time, save energy, save wear and tear, and save some money. Insist on high efficiency dryer vent products.
